Add (at the end of the paragraph)

"Before adopting delegated regulations, the Commission shall be required to conduct the consultations provided for in the Constitution for the adoption of laws or framework laws. "

Reason

The purpose of the delegated regulation procedure is to spare the European Parliament from having to examine too technical measures. Consulting the Committee of the Regions is particularly important because the institutions or bodies concerned have precisely the relevant technical competence. The purpose is also to avoid the temptation of using the delegated regulation procedure to cut short the consultation process on the pretext of saving time.
