The European Council, deciding by qualified majority, with the agreement of the President of the Commission, shall appoint the Union's Foreign Representative Minister . He shall conduct the Union's common foreign and security policy. The Foreign Representative shall resign upon a request of the European Council deciding by qualified majority. 2. The Foreign Representative Minister shall contribute by his proposals to the development of the common foreign policy, which he shall carry out as mandated by the Council. The same shall apply to the common security and defence policy. 3. The Foreign Representative Minister shall be one of the Vice-Presidents of the Commission. He shall be responsible there for handling external relations and for co-ordinating other aspects of the Union's external action. In exercising these responsibilities within the Commission, and only for these responsibilities, he shall be bound by Commission procedures. 4. The Foreign Representative shall be assisted by two deputies. One of them shall be designated to this function by the Foreign Representative in common accord with the President of the Commission from the Members of the Commission. His tasks would be confined by the mandate of the Commission. The second deputy shall be elected by the European Council following the same procedure as in case of the Foreign Representative. He shall assist the Foreign Representative in the function of the chairman of the Council of Foreign Ministers, chair the Political and Security Committee. 5. The Foreign Representative shall have at his disposal a joint administrative service drawing upon officials of the European Commission, the General Secretariat of the Council and the Member States administrations. 6. The Foreign Representative shall have at his disposal the Union's external relations budget.

Explanation: The description "Foreign Minister" may cause a confusion between this function and that of national ministers. Therefore, I propose the label of Union's Foreign Representative. He should enjoy a special status within the Commission. Faced with a significant workload he should be assisted by two deputies. One of them would be elected form the Commissioners' body.
