6.        The Council may, by qualified majority, after consulting the European Parliament, A ~~European law or framework law may~~ lay down detailed rules for the multilateral surveillance procedure referred to in paragraphs 3 and 4.

Explanation:

The European Parliament should not have co-decision in multilateral surveillance since economic policy is the responsibility of the Member States. Article 68.3-4 might also be used as a legal base for legal acts which relate to the substantive content of economic policy, although our view is that this article relates only to procedural matters.
