Article III – 174

Add a new third paragraph to Article III – 174.1 (ex-Article 152 - public health)

The Union shall complement the Member States' action in attaining the general objective of providing a high level of protection from interpersonal violence, including protection of physical and mental health, and of reducing incidences of such violence.

Explanation (if any) :

Strengthens the legal base for programmes seeking to tackle violence, in particular, (but not exclusively), against children, young people and women, such as the current very successful DAPHNE Programme. The amendment is also consistent with the right to integrity of the person, provided for in Title I, Article II-3.1
